Alan Urban from CAG addressed the council concerning the Lead Base Paint Program and the lack of participants. He asked the mayor and council if they can help get the word out and convince the citizens to take advantage of the program. The program has professional people going to homes and checking for lead and the program will pay to replace windows, floors or walls that test positive for lead. The program will also pay for hotel rooms if the resident needs to leave their home while the repairs are being done. There is no cost to the residents. ASARCO is paying for this in connection with settlement of an enforcement action taken on behalf of the EPA under the Clean Air Act. He also told the council of a program through USDA where you can apply for money to be used on smaller projects. He will meet with them later if they are interested.
